Planning the Play of a Bridge Hand

By Barbara Seagram and David Bird

“Nice dummy, partner — but what do I do now?” Barbara Seagram is a wonderful teacher and has written many excellent books for beginning and developing players. She does a terrific job of identifying core components of the problem at hand, then providing clear, concise information in a very approachable manner. David Bird is also a prolific writer and teacher.

This book provides basic guidance on how think through declarer play. If you’re a newer player and sometimes find yourself at a loss when dummy hits, you’ll certainly learn tons from this book, working through strategies to develop tricks in suit contracts and in notrump contracts. The authors also have a section on “clever moves” that demonstrates some more advanced techniques.

Highly recommended!
